Providence Community Health Centers (PCHC) – the first community health center in Rhode Island and the eighth community health center in the country— is at the heart of a movement built around one thing: providing people with quality care regardless of their ability to pay.

While the last 50 years have seen many changes in healthcare, PCHC’s mission has remained the same. PCHC continues to provide comprehensive, affordable health care offered with respect, cultural awareness and accessibility for all. PCHC and the Rhode Island community have been making a difference, together.
